The Spirit of the Lord has filled the whole world and that which contains all things, understands what is said, alleluia.

O God, who by the mystery of today's great feast sanctify your whole Church in every people and nation, pour out, we pray the gifts of the Holy Spirit across the face of the earth and, with divine grace that was at work when the Gospel was first proclaimed, fill now once more the hearts of believers. Through Our Lord Jesus Christ, your son, who lives and reigns with you in the unity of the Holy Spirit, one God forever and ever. Amen

Pentecost

Our daughter married into a large Italian family whose get-togethers include dozens of people. (More than fifty were there for Christmas dinner, and not everyone could make it.) Ours is a small and often quiet family, so Katy had to get used to more noise and activity that she had when growing up. It was like learning a new language. It's often that way when couples wed. Over time, we come to know inside jokes, the way the in-laws mark occasions, who we can joke with and who prefers a more serious interaction. Just as with growing up in our families, we become a part of them, and they become a part of us. When the Holy Spirit descended on those gathered in the upper room, it was like a wedding. They had to learn the language of God's family—one that included proclamation, sharing, repentance, and mercy. They had to learn what it meant to be part of one body, using their unique gifts to build on what Christ had already started. With the Holy Spirit as inspiration and source of grace, the disciples and apostles were sent to testify and invite the world to the eternal life that Christ offers.

In any relationship it takes time to get to know the other. God has the advantage in his relationship with us—he already knows us fully and intimately. In getting to know him and learning his language, we feel awkward or out-of-place. But he constantly welcomes and invites us to be a part of his life and Church, knowing we might eventually come to live with him forever.

PRO-LIFE CORNER

Pentecost Voice

The Holy Spirit, who came on Pentecost, gave voice to the Apostles to proclaim the truth of the Gospel. The Spirit, the Soul of the Church, continues to enable the Church to speak, and enables us to speak in our individual capacity. As Cardinal Elio Sgreccia, former President of the Vatican's Pontifical Academy for life has said: "The Church must speak out in today's context on Fundamental rights, the right to justice, the place, and the right to life. If the Church did not speak, did not proclaim the truth, it would not proclaim the truth: it would be abandoning its duty. It would be unfaithful to society. Therefore, its precise duty is the very liberty to intervene with word, and also with example-the example of promoting human life, of intervening for the salvation of mankind."
